ELECTION

Of New Pope Excites the Ecclesiastical World

Dead Pontiff Lying in State in St. Peter's

Rome, August 21.—Among the so-called political cardinals, headed by Cardinal Agliardi, a movement is under way to have the Sacred College of Cardinals address the emperors, kings and presidents of the countries engaged in war, asking them to declare a truce while the new Pontiff is being elected. This plan, as well as the proposition to attempt mediation, provides for the assistance of the United States as the greatest neutral power.

Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal secretary of state, today delivered into the hands of Cardinal Del La Volpe the whole machinery of the Catholic church, giving him at the same time a detailed report of all business. With Cardinal Merry Del Val there are at the other high officials and heads of departments at the Holy See, who the next Pope may reappoint, if he desires.

The greatest efforts are being made by the cardinals here to prevent the conclave's presenting a spectacle of schism among the foreign cardinals on account of the conflict now waging throughout Europe. If such a breach should occur it is expected that the foreign cardinals would form groups as follows:

The seven from France, five from Spain, two each from England and Portugal and one each from Ireland, Belgium and Canada, form a total of nineteen.

The two German and six Austro-Hungarian make another group of eight.

The neutral group is composed of the three Americans and one each from Brazil and Holland, forming a total of five.

The Italian cardinals, numbering 33, stand separately.

The whole sacred college numbers 65 cardinals, so that the next Pope needs 42 votes to be elected. The Italians alone, or with the five neutrals, are therefore insufficient, while any attempt to join the German or Anglo-French group would cause other splits. Thus it appears likely the choice will fall upon an Italian.

Body Taken To St. Peter's.

Rome, Italy, Aug. 21.—Borne by red-uniformed members of the Sediai, who, when he was alive, carried him in the Sedan Chair, the body of Pope Pius X., dressed in pontifical robes and with the other emblems of his sacred office lying beside it, was taken today to the chapel of the Blessed Sacrament in St. Peter's, where the solemn rites of absolution were performed.

Thousands of persons wave themselves into the great procession from throne room to the chapel. The procession was headed by the bearer of a massive silver cross and twenty cardinals and patriarchs, archbishops, bishops, priests and papal and court chamberlains and members of the Swiss noble and Palatine guards in their multi-colored uniforms. The scene was an impressive one. Under the shade of the candles in the chapel could be seen the tear-dimmed eyes of prelates, priests, laymen and papal guard. Especially affected were the bearers of the body of the Pope.

The burial will be private. This was decided upon today.

Body of Pope Embalmed.

The body was embalmed today prior to its removal to the chapel for the ceremony of absolution. Instead of the antiquated methods of removing the viscera and preparing it in a vase in the church of St. Vincent near the Quirinal, a fluid which it is claimed will preserve the body perfectly was injected into the arteries.

The following Maysville relatives were present at the funeral: Mrs. E. H. Allen, and son, Frank Allen, Mrs. Carrie M. Pickett, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Curran and daughter, Miss Theo. G. Curran.

LOST—AN AUTOMOBILE TIRE.

Last night about 10:30 an automobile came down East Second street on a flat wheel. At Houston avenue the left hind wheel began shedding. It dropped the tire in front of Mr. E. C. Parker's. 1852 NO WAR PRICES AT HUNT'S 1914

There will be no higher prices here, notwithstanding the advance on all foreign goods and on all domestic lines dependant in any part of their manufacture on a foreign product, as yarns, dyes, etc., used in weaving. We will protect our customers to the total elimination of all unexpected profit to ourselves, refusing absolutely to advance prices on any merchandise in stock. Of course some food lines have soared. Nevertheless let us meet conditions courageously, with the realization no matter what temporary inconveniences we face, it is our purse not our hearts that suffer. Peace sheds her benign rays on us, while war's tragic avalanche destroys the flower of Europe's manhood. To our fellow beings whose woes so far outnumber ours, let us give sympathy in such generous measure, none will remain for self repining.

Fifty two years ago this house went through a war crisis whose smallest event was more directly significant to us than Europe's battles in all their ramifications.

From that stupendous cataclysm we emerged stronger and better, therefore while our profoundest sympathy envelops Europe's sombre situation, hope springs eternal for Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean.

Let us bear our burdens cheerfully as they are infinitesimal, comparatively speaking. We should accept today as an American opportunity and not as a devastation.

A NEW WAY TO STOP WAR.

Among the many novel propositions to put a stop to the present "little scrap in Europe" is the following:
"Chicago Examiner:

"I am willing to act on your proposed committee to use what influence may be possible toward ending this great European war, which I believe cannot be done by tongue or pen, but only by gunpowder.

I should be glad to co-operate with the committee in conducting negotiations with any of the belligerents for blowing up the warships of the enemies by means of a very swift semi-submarine torpedo boat of my invention, costing not more than a hundred thousand dollars, a dozen of which could be built in three months and one of which would be capable of running through the zone of fire of any fighting ship in the world and sinking it, or I should be willing to finance the building of these boats myself under guarantee of any government that I should be paid 10 per cent. of the value of all warships destroyed by the torpedo boats made under my inventions. In this way the length of the cruel war might be materially lessened.

"HUDSON MAXIM,

"Inventor of Smokeless Powder, Hopalong, N. J."

IMPROVED FINANCIAL CONDITIONS.

The clearings all over the country are increasing. Buyers from every section are in New York seeking goods for the fall trade, buying American goods as substitutes for foreign orders that cannot now be filled.

The issue of the new emergency currency seems to have stilled apprehension, even in the minds of panic-stricken New Yorkers, and the bank statement last week showed a marked reaction toward confidence.

Monday, in New York, it was noted that the savings bank depositors were withdrawing their notices of withdrawal sixty days hence. Before the sixty days are up most of these notices will be cancelled and the withdrawals will fall to a normal basis.

A better tone to foreign exchange is also noted, with rates reasonable. There were many grain bills offered against contracts, which showed that the foreign buyers were willing to assume the war risks. This is due to the growing conviction that the ocean has practically been opened to the commerce of neutral nations.—Louisville Post.

THE POTATO THE STANDARD PRODUCT.

No matter what the price of meats, flour or other things that enter into the cost of living may be this fall and winter, one thing the people are assured of is that potatoes will remain at a reasonable price. The crop of potatoes in New England will be one of the largest ever produced and the quality is of the best. Already the local farmers and men who raise potatoes have begun digging them out of the ground. With one of the worst European wars in history staring us in the face and with the price of foodstuffs steadily increasing, we people here in New England have a whole lot to be thankful for in the good potato crop.—Manchester (Conn.) Herald.

China must feel delighted, as Teddy would say, to learn that Japan is going to war to preserve her territorial integrity. The wolf is getting unusually kind toward the lamb.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FROZEN TRUTH.

They seek to deny it, but still it is true,
When Tariffs are low, sure wages are, too.
The remedy, worker, is now up to you.
—Jack Wiley.

AUGUSTUS E. WILLSON, REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR.

The Republicans of Kentucky at their Primary on August 1st selected their candidate for U. S. Senator. They chose a man who is known and respected by all of the people of the State, irrespective of party; a man who is scholarly, eloquent and true, who was elected to the highest office in the State and discharged the duties of that office without fear or favor and retired with the approval of "we'll done."

He is a man upon whom all can unite, and who will heal what division and dissension there has been in the party for the past three or four years, so that we will present a solid front and march to victory in November. He is a man to whom we can point with pride and who, if elected, will uphold the prestige and honor of Old Kentucky in the United States Senate.

We feel that the Republicans made no mistake when they selected Augustus E. Willson as their standard bearer.—Vanceburg Sun.

Everywhere there are expressions of gratitude to the Wilson administration for the prompt and sympathetic action taken for the relief of American travelers in Europe. There has been no hesitation. Every department has been brought into service and Congress has voted money to aid those who may be without means. No government official has been heard complaining that he could do nothing on account of the absence of law. Ways and means have been found to give aid to the people.—Des Moines Capital.

The French President has bestowed the cross of the Legion of Honor upon the city of Liege for its brave resistance. And the taxpayers of Liege will have to bear that cross for many years to come.—New York Staats Zeitung.

If the Europeans will merely look over the files of their newspapers from 1861 to 1865 they will be reminded that foreign comment on a war is often based on misunderstandings.—Ripley Bee.

Yellow journalism and the $1 weekly are on the wane. Both have had their day, and are passing.—The Publishers' Auxiliary.

Jabs for Women!

Aboard he was heroic
As knives at him were east,
Yet home he was so nervous
He shook when wife passed.

Calm and smiling, Pigglesby Wisship stood against the slab of wood in Baitum & Barney's side show and never moved a muscle while the gleaming daggers thrown by Pipp the Marvelous Marksman cut their way through the air and buried their points a half-inch from his body.

"Gee, maybe that guy ain't got nerve!" remarked a college professor who had dropped in to see what he had bought a ticket for.

"His nerve surpasses credulity!" whispered an awe-struck messenger boy.

And as the throwing ceased and Pigglesby Wisship stepped aside to show his form outlined in daggers thrown by the wall the crowd cheered lustily and Pigglesby was forced to bow again and again.

II.

Later that afternoon the human target stood watching his wife pinning on her hat.

"Maybelle!" he cried suddenly in insuppressible anxiety, "how many times must I tell you not to jab your hairpins into your hair in that reckless manner? You'll kill yourself yet, mark my words!"

And for the next half hour he was so nervous thinking about it that he could hardly eat his supper.—Louisville Times.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Maysville People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;
But if you find 'tis from the kidneys;
That, serious kidney troubles may follow;
That dropsy or Bright's disease may, be the fatal end,
You will be glad to know the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Maysville citizen, Mrs. Della Lunsford, 328 E. Front St., Maysville, Ky., says: "I attributed kidney trouble to a strain. I had sharp, shooting pains through my kidneys and a dragging down feeling through my hips. I had dull headaches and dizzy spells and often if I had not caught hold of something for support, I would have fallen. I was in that condition for several years, up one week and in bed the next. I finally began to notice symptoms of dropsy and in a short time I was suffering from that trouble. My feet began to swell and my hands were at times the same way. At night I was restless and always felt tired. I read of a similar case being cured by Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a supply. Before long I was completely and permanently cured. Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life. I am glad to confirm my former endorsement of this remedy." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lunsford had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

"NELLIE, THE BEAUTIFUL CLOAK MODEL"

A Political Application of a Well Known Little Story With a Meaning of Its Own.

Most of our statesmen are too serious, but Representative Kahn, born in Kuppenheim, Germany, is one Congressman who sees the humorous side of political life. On a recent hot afternoon in the House of Representatives, Mr. Kahn said:

"The Democratic Party has constantly assured the manufacturers and business men of this country that there was nothing to fear from the legislation proposed by the members of that party. No doubt the manufacturers and producers for a time believed the statements that emanated from the lips of the distinguished gentlemen on the other side of the aisle and from the gentlemen who heads the executive department of the Government. They have had an awakening.

"The New York Sun published a little item several months ago which exactly pictures the condition of the business world today. It is as follows:

Kind Words Can Never Die.

"To the Editor of the Sun:
"Sir: The kind words from the administration to the business interests of the country remind me of the thrilling melodrama entitled 'Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model.'
"In the early part of the play the villain pushed Nellie off the Brooklyn Bridge. Later, he threw her overboard from an Atlantic liner. Later still, he thrust her under a descending elevator. The next time they met, he said, 'Nellie, why do you fear me?'
"The business interests of the country have grown afraid of the legislation that was threatened and that is being enacted by the Democratic majority."

PRICE OF METALS

TAKES BIG JUMP

Tin Up to 65 Cents—Antimony, Radium Ores and Arsenic Affected.

Washington, Aug. 20.—How the European war is causing an increase in the prices of certain metals and affecting the production of others is told by the Geological Survey. The war has raised the New York price of tin to sixty-five cents a pound. In July tin sold as low as 30.5 cents a pound. The rise in price is attributed to insecurity of ocean freights, which are carried largely in English and German bottoms.

Antimony, ordinarily one of the cheaper metals, has reached more than twenty cents a pound, a price higher than that of aluminum. This is due to the fact that practically all of the metal used in the United States is imported from European smelters. So long as the war exists, and especially so long as sea traffic is disturbed, production will be curtailed and prices raised, according to the Geological Survey.

The war has closed the European market to American radium ores, and as long as it lasts will have a deleterious effect on the production of radium ores in this country.

With the greater part of white arsenic used in America coming from European countries, imports will undoubtedly be seriously diminished by the war, it is stated. The Geological Survey believes that the war opens the way for an increase in the American production.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cure for the disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars to any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE GLOBE TROTTERS.

They traveled like madmen from Rye-

And missed not a sight on the way;
They studied walled cities and moun-

In Cadiz, Cabul and Calais.

Their homeward-bound passage they took,
And leisurely scanned all their post-

How scenes they had visited look!

TOO MANY MASTER KEYS IN NEW CAPITOL

Petty Pilfering Results In Order That New Locks Be Provided.

Frankfort.—Unless the cost is excessive the old capitol will be lighted by electricity from the State's own plant. The State Capitol Commission, met with Acting Governor McDermott, directed the custodian, Samuel Lykins, to inquire the cost of running a cable from the State Reformatory power plant to the old capitol.

The custodian also was directed to inquire the cost of restoring the old Senate chamber and House of Representatives for assembly halls.

New locks will be placed on all the doors of the new capitol. Master keys have become too plentiful and too indiscriminately distributed, it is said. Some small pilfering, including the removal of a desk clock from the Lieutenant Governor's office, caused the Capitol Commission to direct the custodian to attend to this.

"UNCLE BILL"

Well, Well! He Done Jumped Ove
Into "Ball Moose" Lot.

(Mt. Sterling Gazette.)
Hon. William F. Schooler, popularly known as "Uncle Bill," one of the Gazette's original contributors and a native of this city, has been nominated by the Progressive as their candidate for the Legislature from Sandusky county, O. "Uncle Bill" has been making his home in Ohio for several years, claiming Fremont as his domicile, and it meagre reports that occasionally sifting to his old home town can be taken to anything he is certainly making good in the Buckeye State. Mr. Schooler is a man of fine ability and Sandusky county could do much worse in selecting her representative in the State Legislature. Mr. Schooler's many old friends here will watch with interest the outcome in November.

HIS EVENTFUL REIGN AT ROME AS PIUS X.

Modestly Deprecated His Fitness For Such a Vast Responsibility, Accepting Only at Prelates' Most Urgent Behest.

"Oh, what misfortune! My poor Beppo, who so loved a comfortable chair! Who knows the misery he will go through in Rome?" This was the lament of Maria Sarto, one of the three devoted unmarried sisters of Pius X. when she heard that her brother had been chosen to succeed Leo XIII.

Maria Sarto, daughter of a peasant family, wept because Beppo, as she called to his attention he asked, "Who was the pope that established the custom that those holding the chair of St. Peter should not marry?"

"Urban XIII., your holiness," was the answer.
"Well, if he decided upon that causetion he was in his right," said Pope Pius X., "but as much have I to discontinue it."

POPE PIUS X.

always called Giuseppe Sarto, had never elevated to the pontificate over such conspicuous princes of the church as Cardinals Rampolla and Vanutelli. And it is on record that the former patriarch of Venice did not want custodianship of the keys of St. Peter's; indeed, before he had been elected he besought the prelates to omit him from consideration, but they then were resolved that he should hold the scepter.

The conclave had been remarkable for its indecision until Cardinal Sarto, boasting of no noble ancestry, modest and unassuming, but whose executive ability and luminous record had been recognized by Pope Leo, was put forward and elected as the dramatic climax of the conclave in spite of his protestations that he was unqualified for His Reforms Stunned Italy.

One innovation of the new pope was the discarding of the closed carriage in which other pontiffs had ridden for an open one. When Pius X. opened the Vatican for an exhibition of athletics at a great Catholic athletic festival Italy was aghast. Addressing the boys, the pope said: "I bless your games and athletic exercises. While they make your bodies healthy and strong, they are certain also to have a powerful and beneficent influence upon your minds." The pontiff had been used to exercise, and the close confinement of his new life harassed him.

Numerous stories have been told about the pope's objections to such an office of such tremendous responsibility. Pope Leo loved the Venetian, who never had a servant and traveled through his diocese on foot or on the back of a borrowed mule.

Appalled by His Election.

It was on Aug. 4, 1903, that Cardinal Sarto was elected pope by forty-two votes, one more than the necessary two-thirds. The sacred college chose him as in his case there was none of the opposition that existed in the candidature of Cardinals Rampolla, Vanutelli, Goti and Oreglia. Pius X. was elected on the feast of St. Dominic, one of his favored patron saints. The conclave stayed far into the night to persuade him to accept. To the last he hesitated; then, when he must give his answer, it was, "If this cup cannot pass from me"—he paused, then added firmly—"yes."

He was the first pope in 150 years of such humble lineage. He never forgot that he had been poor. In his first encyclical he wrote, "The poor should not be ashamed of their poverty nor disdain the charity of the rich, for they should have especially in view Jesus the Redeemer, who, though he might have been born in riches made himself poor in order that he might enrich poverty and enrich it without merit beyond price for heaven."

Pope Pius X. was criticized by some outside the church and even some within it, but all through his reign none could assail the great cardinal virtues of this peasant born pontiff. He was a tireless worker and a rigid but just disciplinarian. He made it clear that he believed that a pope should have some liberty of etiquette in the Vatican had demanded that the pope dine alone. Whether Pius X. knew this or not, when it had been restrictions as the Vatican imposed upon him; but, while no doubt exaggerated in many instances, it was known that Pope Pius X. would have liked more freedom than he felt warranted in demanding or taking. He caused a stir by deciding to close the celebrated Academy for Noble Ecclesiastics, which for more than three centuries had supplied the church with diplomats and cardinals and which was founded by Cardinal Imperiali for the diplomatic training of Italian nobles who wished to follow an ecclesiastical career. The object of Pope Pius X. was to utilize the funds required to maintain the academy in other ways for the good of the church.

During the first year of his pontificate Pius X. issued his "Instruction on Sacred Music." The time had come, he thought, to draw a distinction between "the worship of music" and "music for worship" and to define that sacred music should be a help to reverence, instead of a distraction. Therefore, in pursuance of his views, he especially advised the restoration of the Gregorian chant by the people, "so the faithful might again take a more active part in the ecclesiastical offices, as in ancient times."

Pius himself loved music and played the organ with a degree of no mean attainment. He had a clear baritone voice, and it has been said he sometimes sang the songs of his exiled home to his sisters when they were permitted to meet him in the Vatican garden. Finding seven cooks were employed in the papal kitchens, the pope said to have a little broth for a poor man? The holy father preferred the plain food he had eaten in Venice to the delicacies from the larders of St. Peter's. At most of his meals he sat at a table with his secretaries.

With slight variations, this was the routine of the late pontiff: private mass at 6 o'clock; breakfast; attended correspondence and tary of state ences to foreigners; visited the Vatican museum of inscription; was driven to the grotto of Lourdes, built in the gardens by his predecessor; prayed at the shrine of the Virgin in the grotto, took a short walk and usually stopped at the den of caged lions that Negus Menelik of Ethiopia gave him; took a short walk followed by his carriage; had luncheon in his private apartment of the palace, followed in the warmest weather by a siesta, according to Roman custom; received his prelates, who apprised him of their decisions and asked his approval; omitted dinner as a rule and spent the evening alone in his study reading the day's reports and deciding cases upon which only the pope could act; ate a light supper and retired for the night. His apartments were practically policed by the Swiss guard, which had strict orders to let none approach the chamber.

LESS MEAT

Advice of Family Physician.

Formerly people thought meat necessary for strength and muscular vigor. The man who worked hard was supposed to require meat two or three times a day. Science has found out differently.

It is now a common thing for the family physician to order less meat, as in the following letter from a N. Y. man:

"I had suffered for years with dyspepsia and nervousness. My physician advised me to eat less meat and greasy foods generally. I tried several things to take the place of my usual breakfast of chops, fried potatoes, etc., but got no relief until I tried Grape-Nuts food.

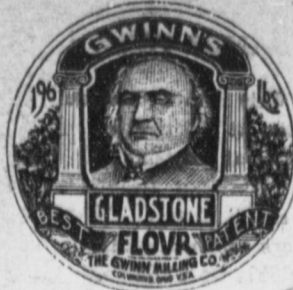

"After using Grape-Nuts for the regular part of my meals for two years, I am now a well man. Grape-Nuts benefited my health far more than the medicine I had taken before."

"My wife and children are healthier than they had been for years, and we are a very happy family, largely due to Grape-Nuts."

"We have been so much benefited by Grape-Nuts that it would be ungrateful not to acknowledge it."

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Mathews last evening threw their hospitable home open to the young people of this city and many guests from abroad, by giving a delightful "dansant."

The charming home was aglow with birth, music and brilliant lights, and to say the truth the rooms were overflowing with young people, about one hundred enjoying the beautiful occasion, while Mrs. Mathews and a score or so of her matron friends sat around as chaperons and seemingly enjoyed the fun as much as the youngsters.

The wedding bells rang last night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lockridge on East Fifth street. It was quite an elaborate affair and well attended.

The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and roses. The colors of the evening being pink and white were well carried out.

Miss Beatrice Jackson, the bride's maid entered first, accompanied by Mr. Clark Alexander, the best man. She was beautifully dressed in white voile with shadowed lace and pink ribbon carrying pink roses.

Then enter the bride with the groom. She was beautifully dressed in embroidered tulle and venetian lace, carrying bridal roses. Miss Mae De Cola Hagood sounded the Wedding March and the ceremony was conducted by Dr. L. M. Hagood, D. D.

The dining room was beautifully decorated in pink and white and their bridal cake was of the latest style in pastry.

The groom is of one of the best families in the city and the bride is a talented young lady. The guests left, wishing the couple many happy hours.

Mr. Joseph Johnson died Wednesday afternoon at his residence, 1111 N. 1st street, at the age of 78.

PAIGE

Model Chevrolet "30"—Electric lighting and starting—$1275
Model Buick "25"—5-passenger—Electric lighting and starting—$975

MAYBE it is an old fashioned idea this notion of putting all the value possible into the car itself—and as little as possible into overhead expense—

But it has given the Paige a positively dominant position among cars of medium price—

Ample capital for operating purposes—no bonded indebtedness—no excessive capitalization—no heavy overhead of any kind to be paid for.

Just a full dollar of car value for every dollar of the selling price.

Is it any wonder that the Paige is going to be oversold again this year in spite of increased production?
